NUCLEAR CONTAINMENT FACILITY

Nuclear Containment

After a nuclear bomb went off at the end of the Easter Egg Hunt, this facility was built to contain the resulting radiation.

The containment was safe and secure until a crime group caused an explosion that released radioactive gas into the air.

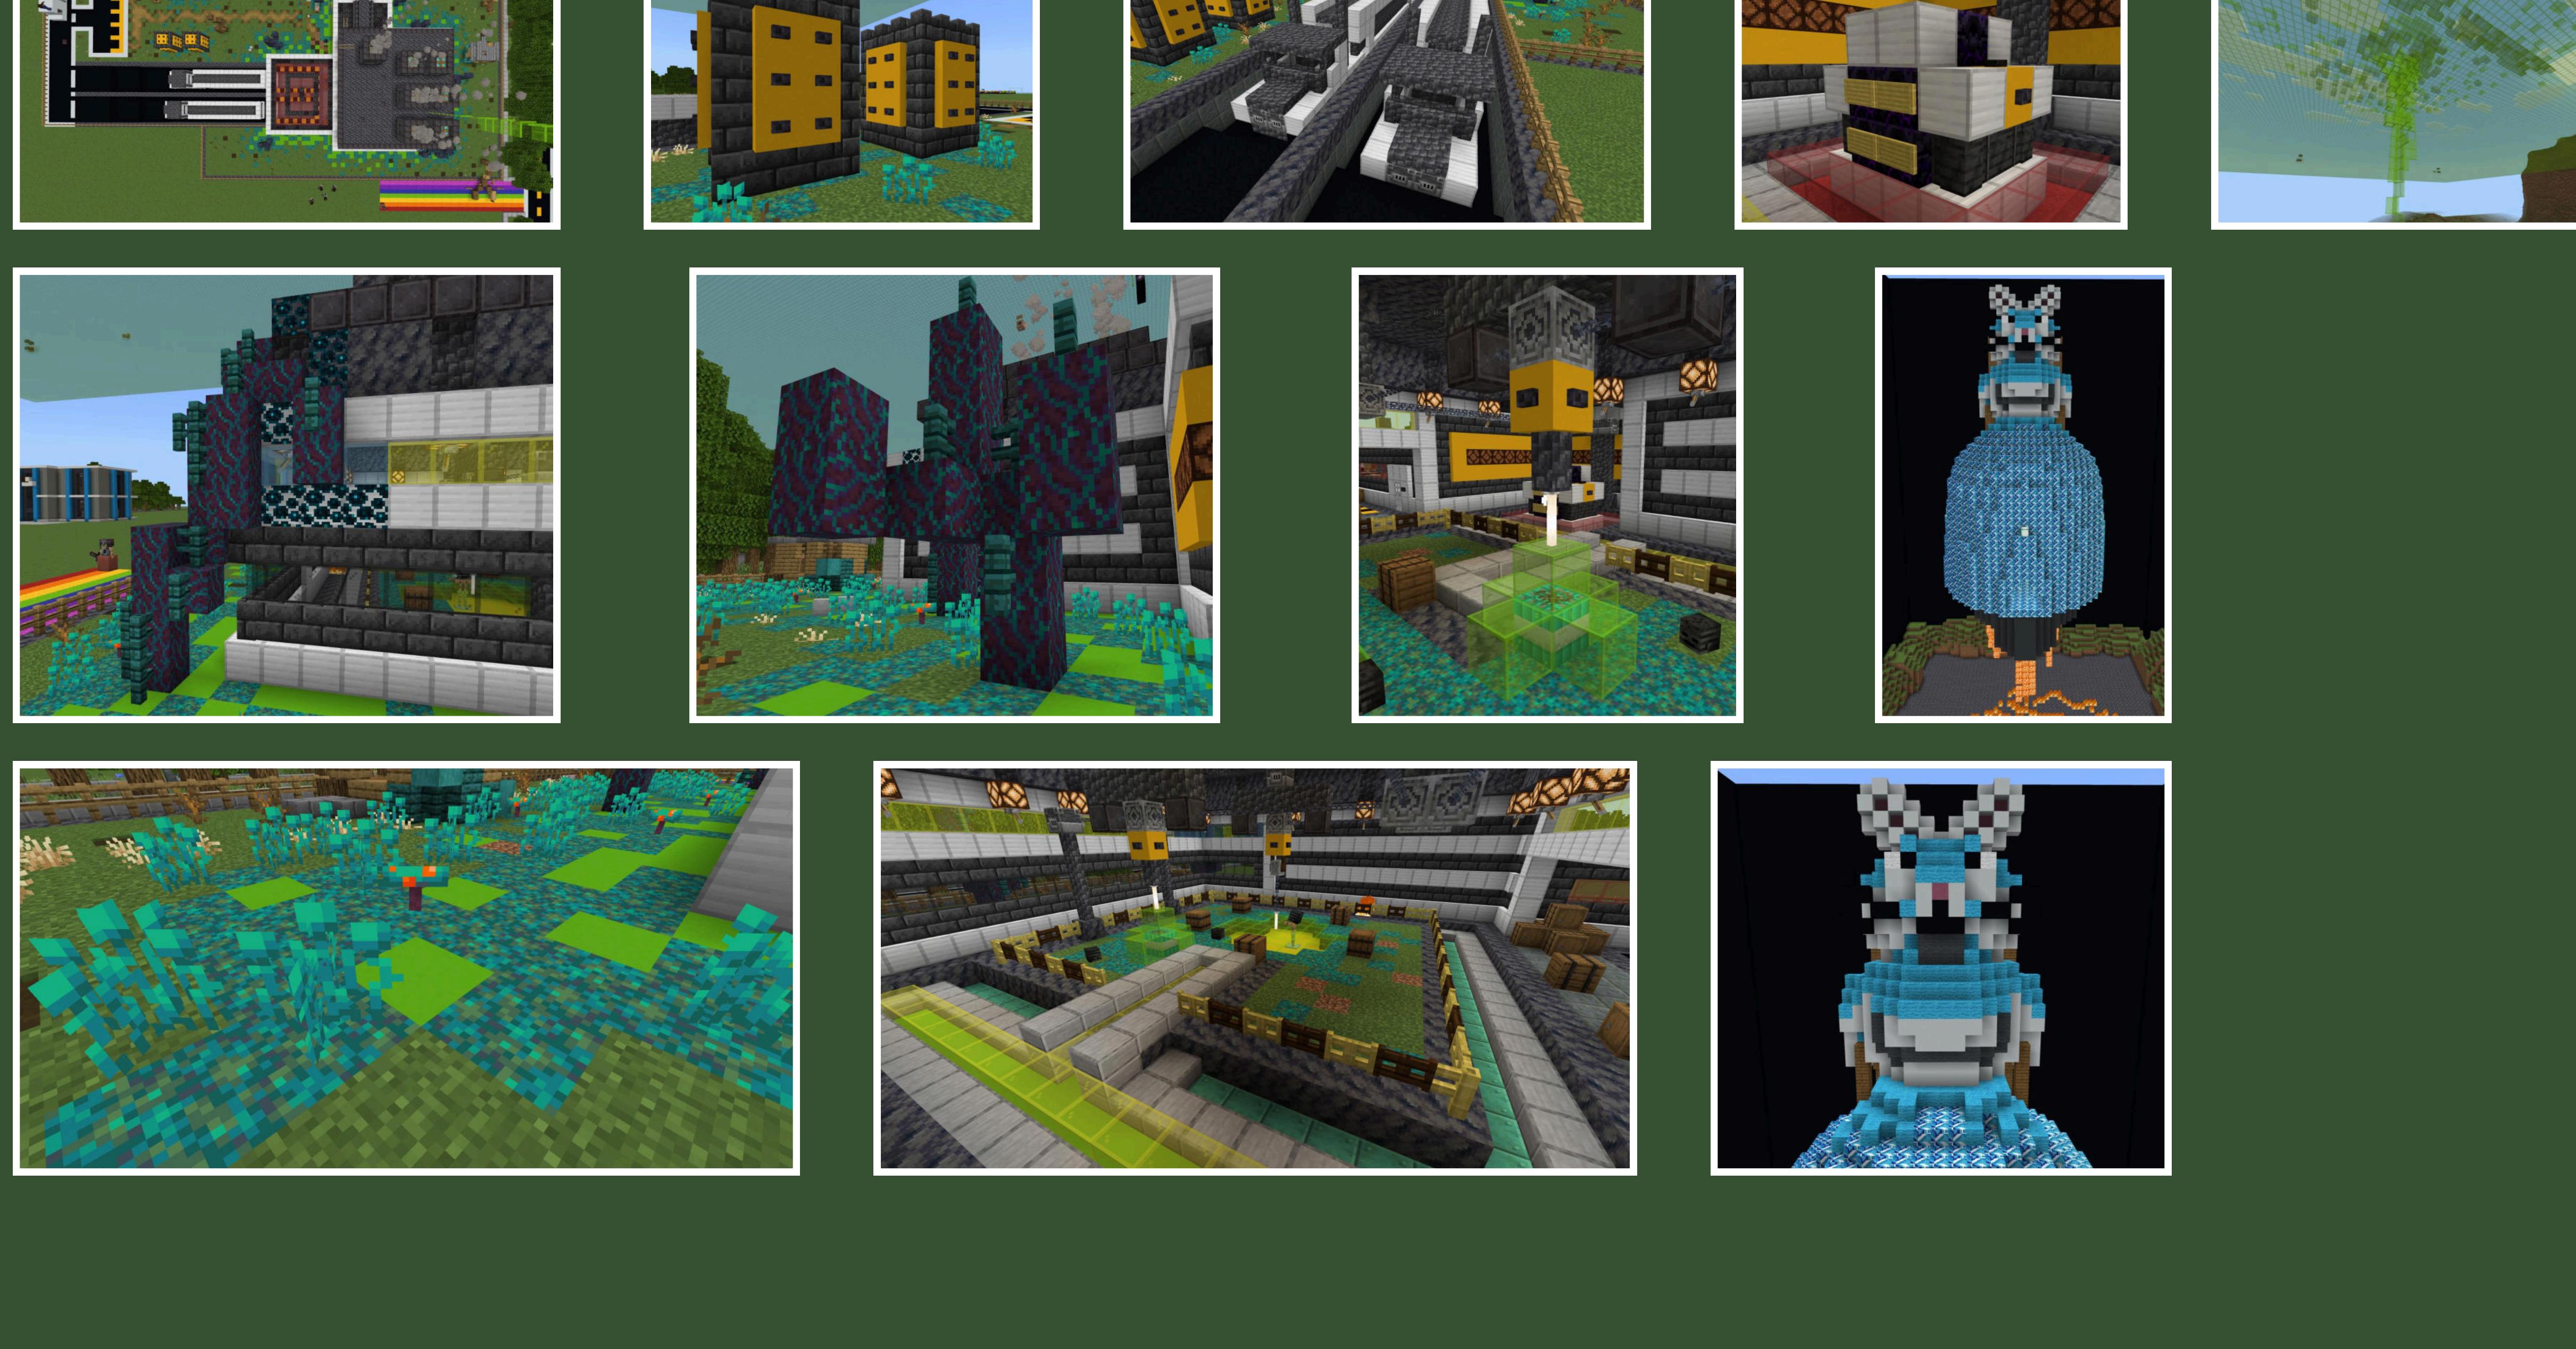

It is theorized that the Bunny is the one who caused this whole mess, since he was seen flying away soon after the incident. The statue is located where the Bunny originally stood.

It is not currently recommended to step within the fenced area. Facility tours will resume once the gas is cleared up.
